- Class Description

This is a watercolor painting landscape class. The main focus is to create stronger designs in our paintings. What makes the class unique is, you get see Sinatra's direct approach to painting as she shares her completed sketchbooks with lessons and samples of finished works of art.

For example, trees tend to play a big role pulling the landscapes together either as the main subject or a supporting role. By using items from nature such as trees, water or a man-made structure, makes the painting more interesting and helps create a story.

Below are the photos in order that we will use. Please have these 3 paintings sketched out before class. This will give you more time to paint. If you like, I can critique your drawing before you paint. You should receive photos before class.
